Mr. Ehrig was appointed to the Florida Board of Architecture and Interior Design (BOAID) in 2008 and served over 16 years. He was chairman from January 2010 thru December 2013, an unprecedented four years.

He now serves as an expert witness, providing consulting services to the prosecuting attorney for BOAID.

Mr. Ehrig has over 48 years of diverse experience in architecture and the construction industry. As an Architect, he has managed the design, preparation of construction documents and construction administration services from initial planning through owner occupancy. He has experience on projects in the public and private sectors. His diverse background of project types, spans from commercial facilities to airports, office buildings to educational facilities, multi-family residential buildings to single family homes.

Over the last 17 years Mr. Ehrig has been providing expert witness services to a variety of client-types including attorneys, owners, architects, and contractors. The completeness of his Forensic Reports, the ability to research and relate case facts and his effective deposition testimony contribute to his professional credibility. Mr. Ehrig has opined on numerous cases in depositions and trials involving the architect's standard of care, construction defects, and premises liability cases. He has testified in several jurisdictions and has been certified as an expert by several courts.

During the last 16 years, Mr. Ehrig has served on the Florida Board of Architecture and Interior Design, served 8 years on various National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) Committees and Task Forces, as well as his service on the AIA Documents and Practice Committees makes him a uniquely qualified expert witness. This exposure requires him to stay current with the Statutes and Rules, the Policies, Standards, and Ethical and Practice requirements of today's architects. In 2018, NCARB released a continuing education program authored by Mr. Ehrig entitled, "Understanding the Architect's Standard of Care". He has recently authored another program entitled, "Pitfalls of Construction Contract Administration" to be released in the summer of 2024.
